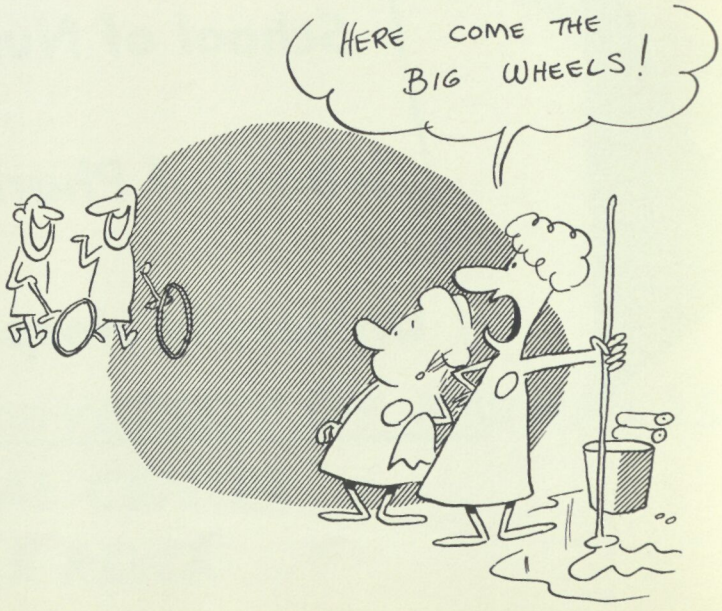
FOREWORD

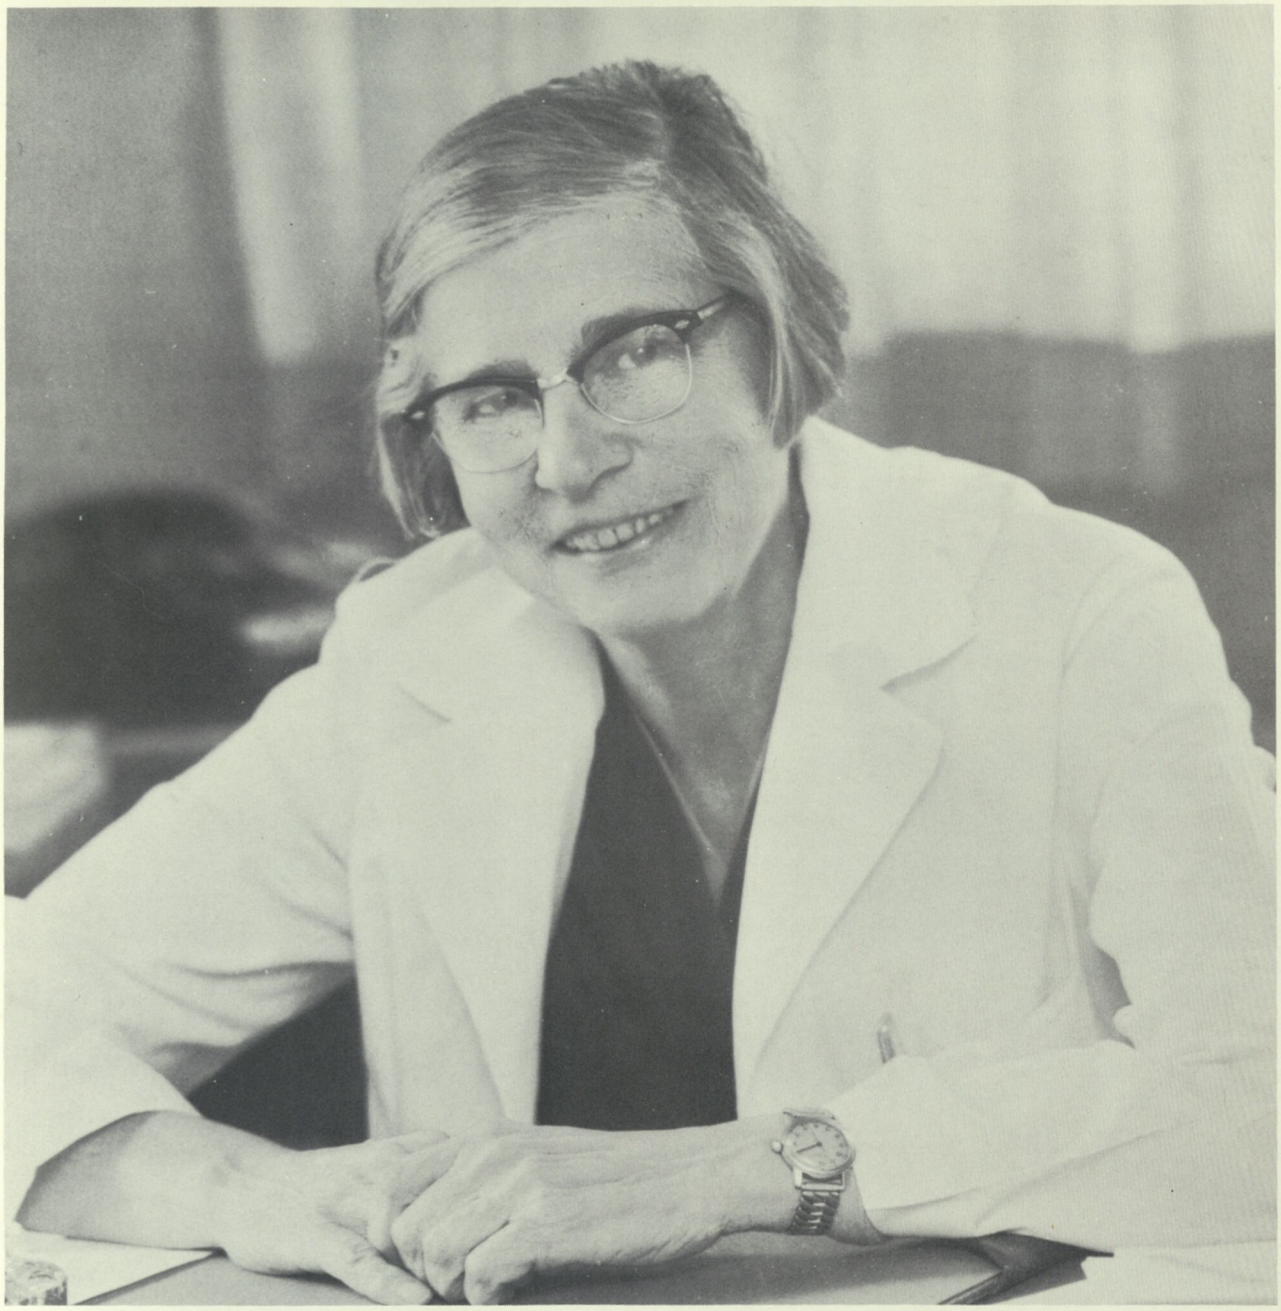
The University of Arkansas Medical Center is now a reality. Many hours of work and planning are behind it and much yet remains to be done. A concentrated effort on the part of all concerned will soon accomplish what is desired—a medical education program in Arkansas second to none in the nation.

In publishing this edition of the CADUCEUS the staff has attempted to recreate some of the advances made during 1957. Much time has gone into its preparation—often to the detriment of other obligations. Our sole reward will be the knowledge that you consider the result well done.

The value of a book such as this is chiefly a sentimental one. There are those who treasure the experiences that a yearbook will recall—others who mark it as evidence of an education hard-earned. Whatever the reason that you retain your copy of the 1957 CADUCEUS we hope that you are pleased with the contents. Undoubtedly there are imperfections—we only hope that their numbers are few. All responsibility for these must rest with the staff and we seek your understanding that none was intended.



DEDICATION



KATHARINE DODD, M.D.

A native of Rhode Island, Dr. Dodd received her A.B. from Bryn Mawr in 1914 and her M.D. from Johns Hopkins in 1921. After an internship and residency training at Johns Hopkins and Yale University Hospitals she began teaching in the field of Pediatrics in 1926. She has been associated with Vanderbilt and Cincinnati University medical schools and since 1952 has been Professor and Head of the Department of Pediatrics at the University of Arkansas. To a brilliant physician and inspiring teacher who has devoted her life to medicine, the Class of 1957 respectfully dedicates this edition of the Caduceus.

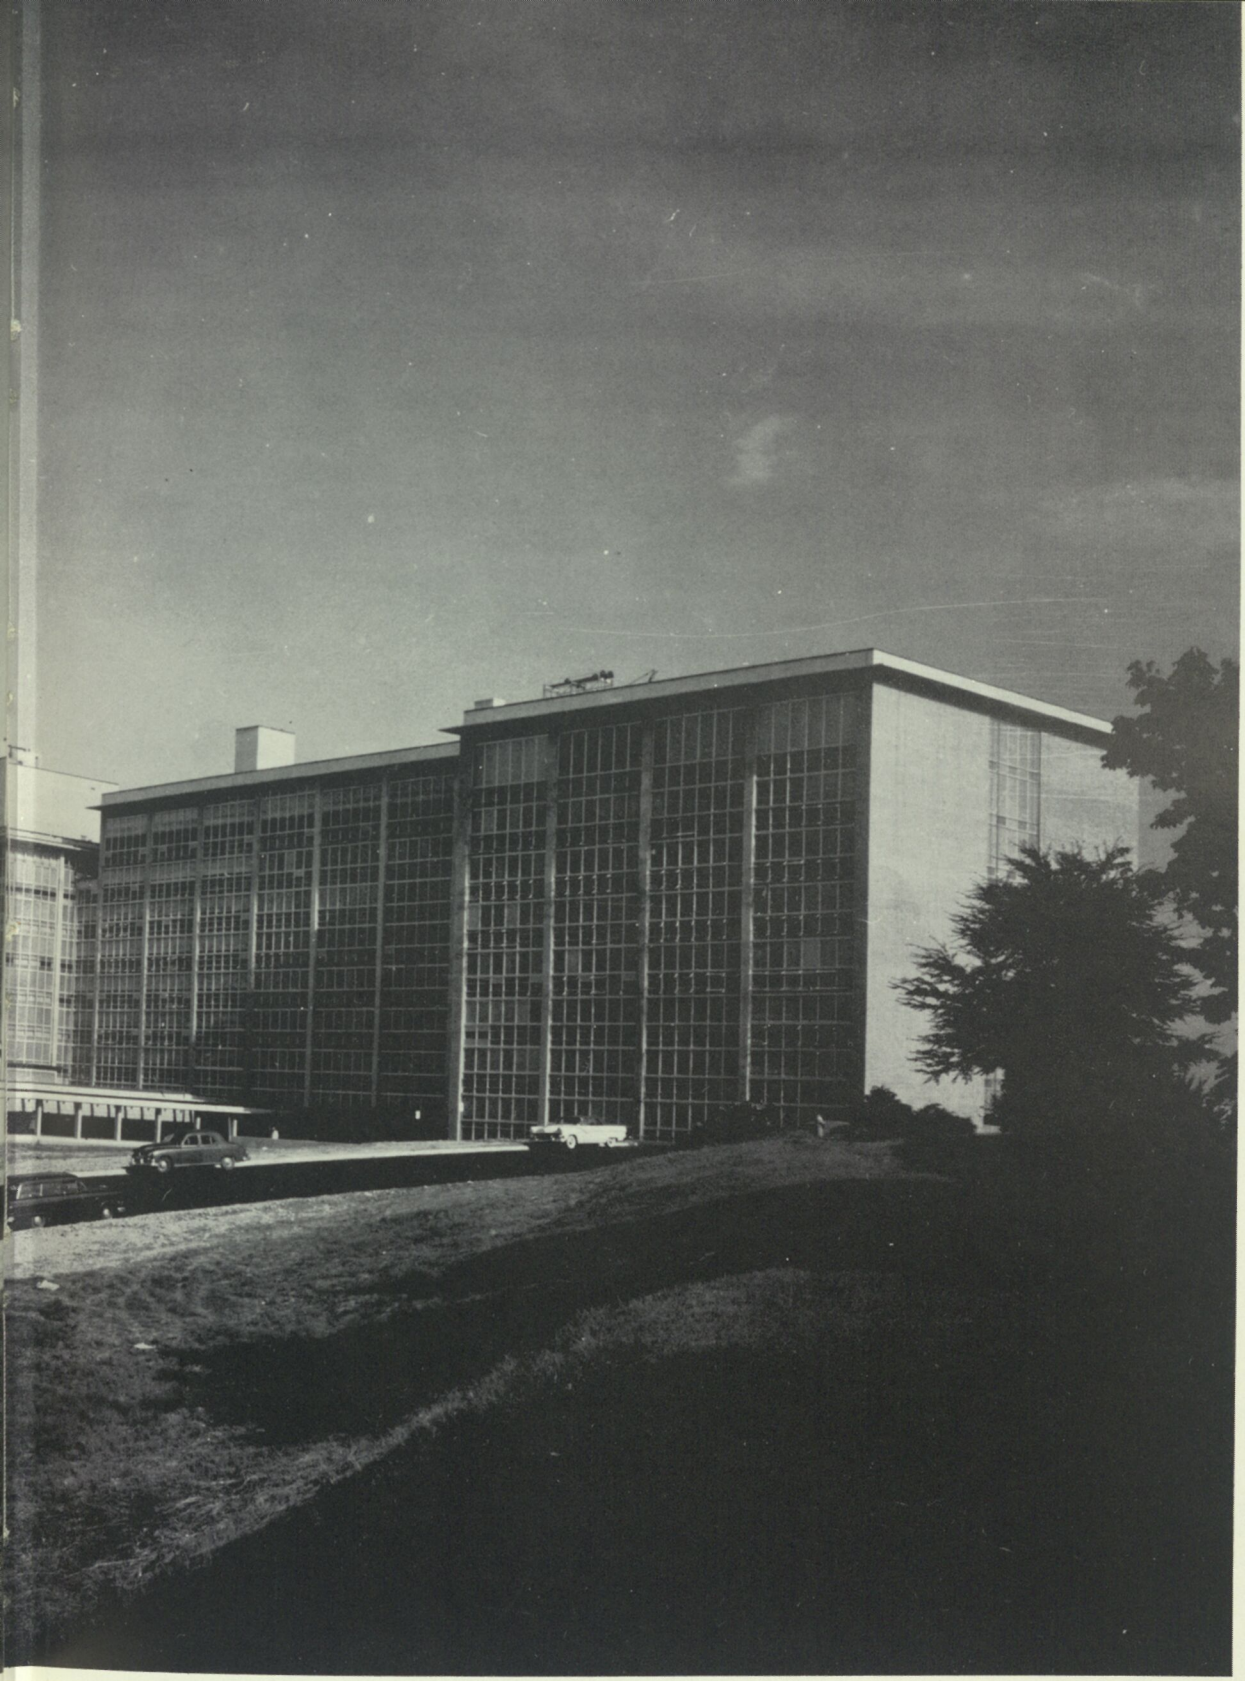
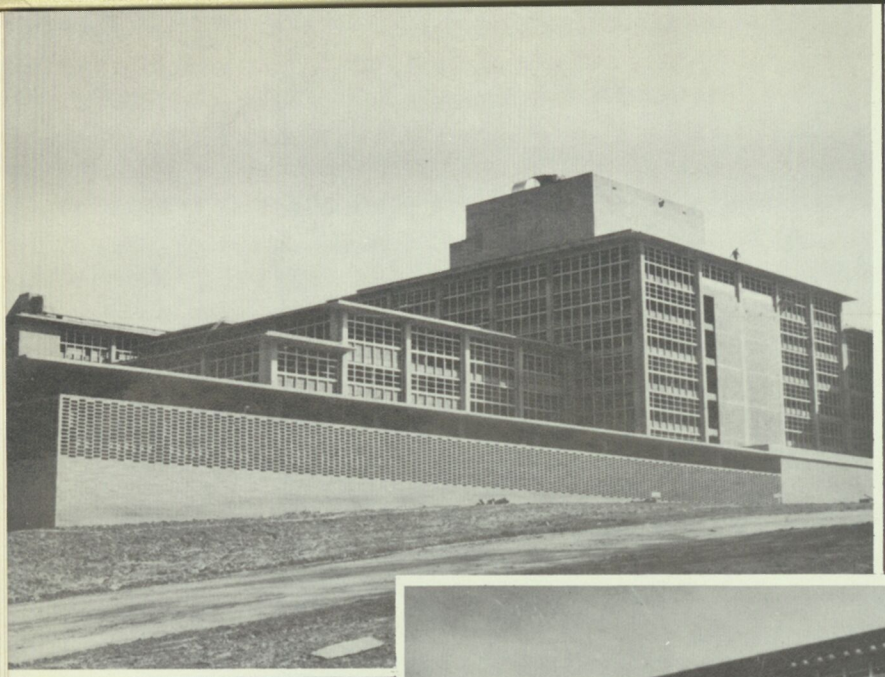
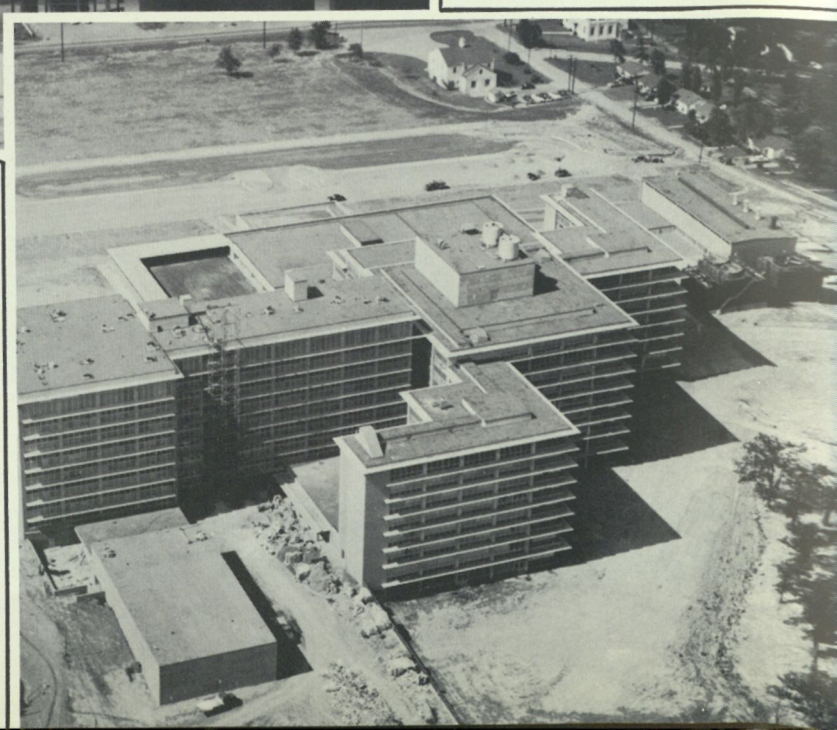
UNIVERSITY OF ARKA

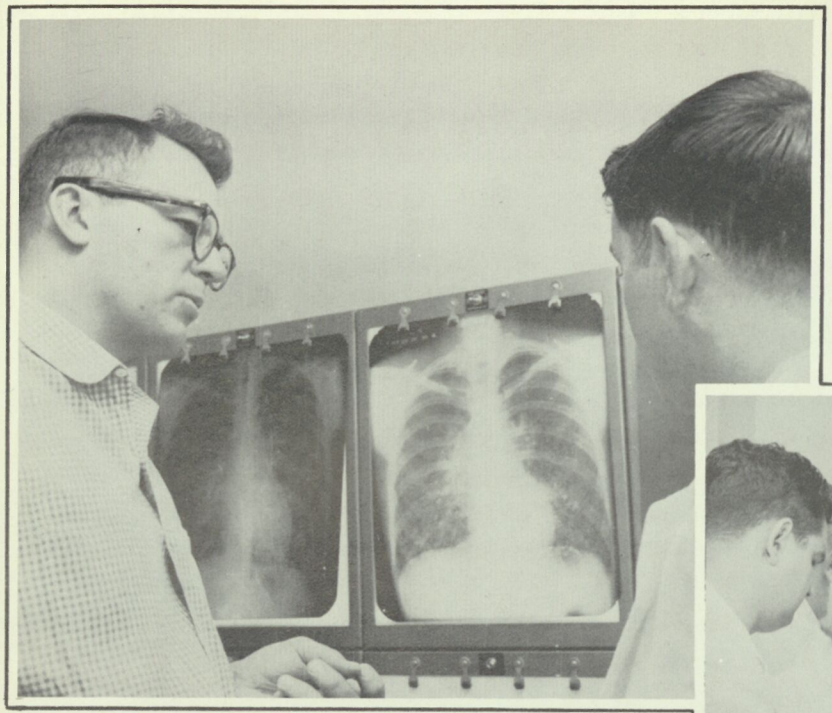


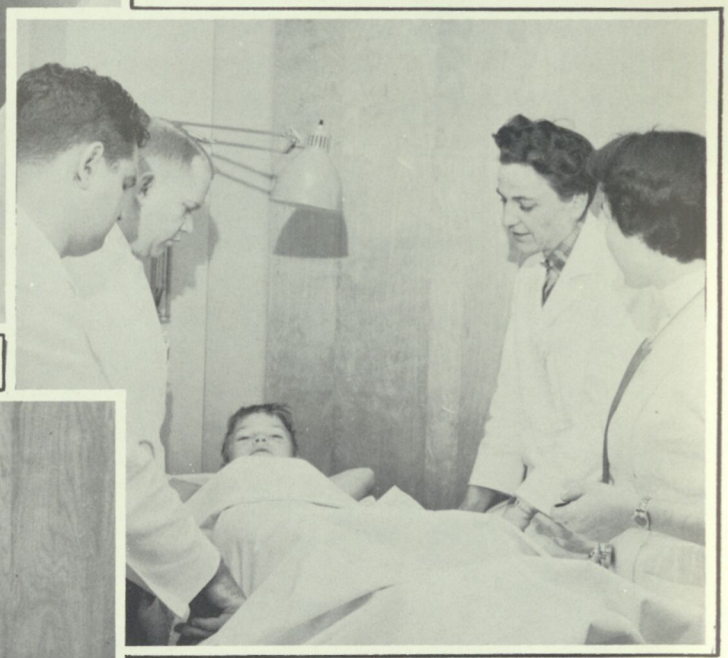
NSAS MEDICAL CENTER

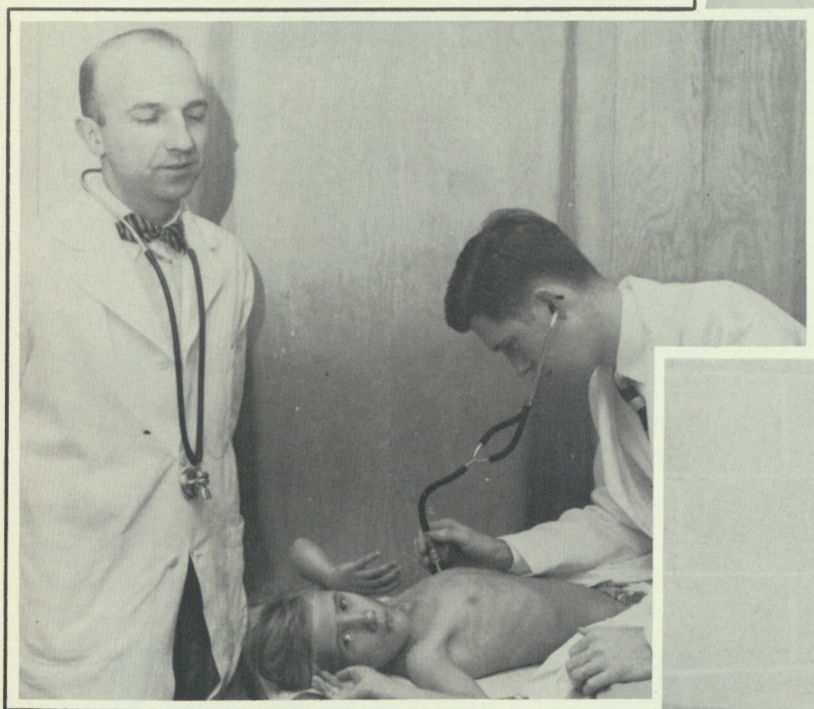


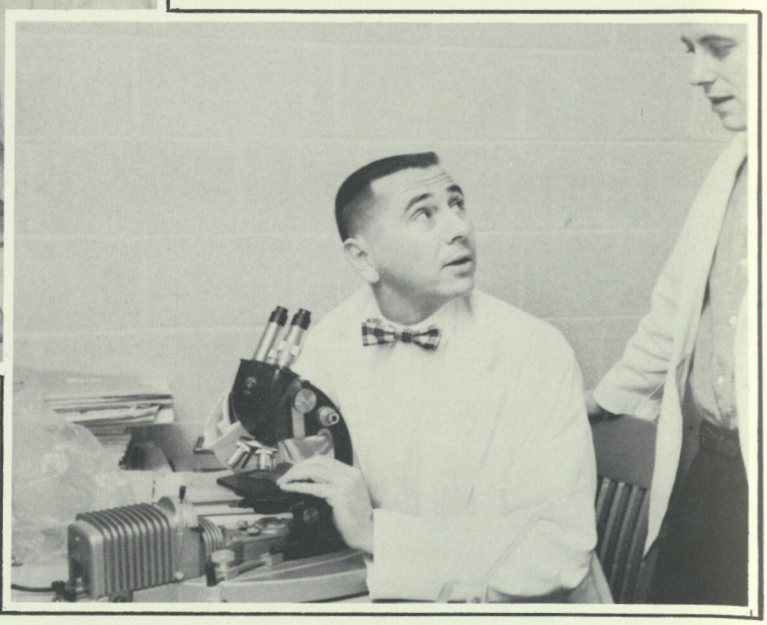


SCHOOL OF MEDICINE









The process of medical education is by necessity a personal one. Much can, of course, be accomplished by the reading of volumes of works on medicine, surgery, mycology, pathology, endocrinology, vitaminology, and tropical and parasitic diseases—the student can peruse the literature for the latest on aneurysms, herniae, forceps, paralyses, nodules, bruits and enemas. But for the secrets of medicine, the individual instruction so necessary for the completion of one's education, we find the need for members of the faculty of the School of Medicine.

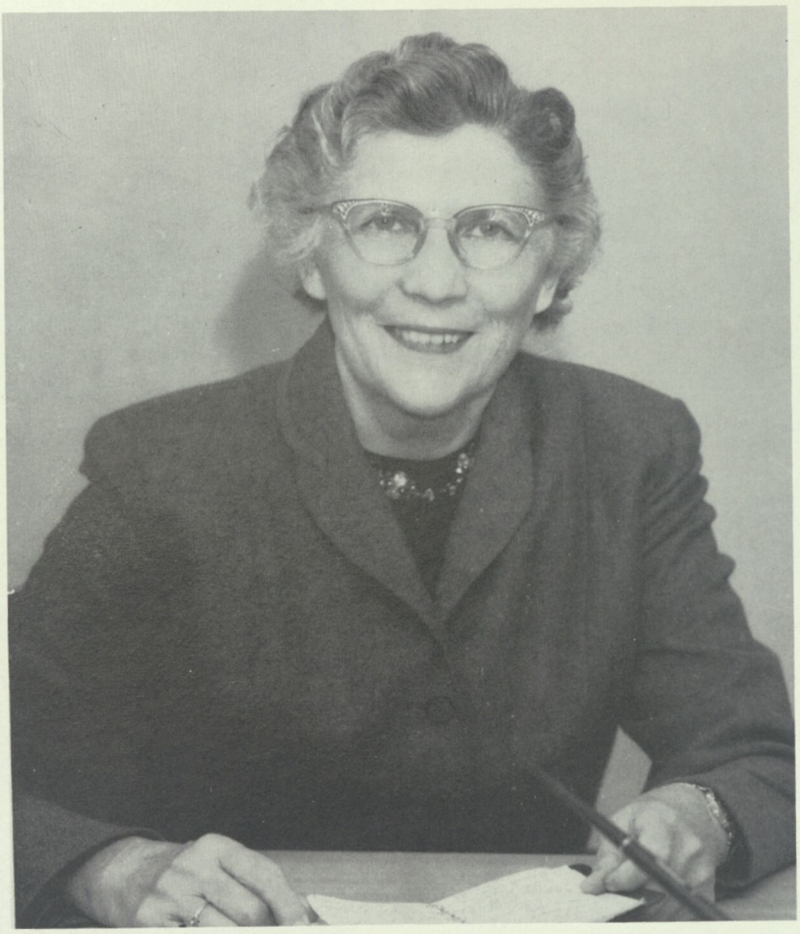
SCHOOL OF NURSING

DEAN



JULIA M. MILLER, M.A.
Dean and Professor of Nursing

Organized as an independent unit of the University, the School of Nursing was established in March 1953 to fill a long-standing need in Arkansas for an educational program combining college-level instruction in academic subjects with professional education for nurses. It is the newest of some two hundred university schools of nursing in this country and the year 1957 marks the graduation of its first class.

SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

DEDICATION

We the students of pharmacy, wish to dedicate our section of the Caduceus to Dr. R. O. BACHMANN, who has been on the staff since the school was organized. His never-ending efforts, as registrar and instructor, have done much to raise the professional standards of pharmacy on both the academic and practical level. We make this dedication as a token of our gratitude.

U OF A MEDICS

BASKETBALL TEAM

Long a power in league competition, the Medics continued their perennial domination with another City Championship during the past year. With a balanced veteran group they were seldom pressed and remained the class of Little Rock City Basketball.

U OF A MEDICS

SOFTBALL TEAM

Hampered by light hitting and a lack of reserve strength the Medics nevertheless improved their league standing over the previous year. With a crop of "rookies" and a nucleus of seasoned players prospects for the coming season are brighter than those in several years.

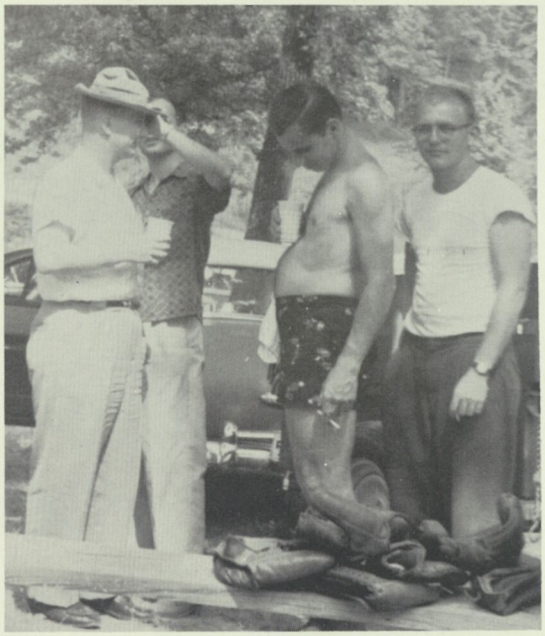
The Senior picnic gets underway . . .

the BIG gamehunter was there . . .



several kegs were consumed . . .

there were many toasts . . .

slugger Lawrason raps 'em out . . .

to ol' leadfoot himself!!

Horseplay in the pool . . .

here's that man again . . .

the trailer was a popular place . . .

all gone, Bing . . .

gad, what a bid . . .

wish I had my queen back.

A few (hundred) people came to this dance . . .

some to sit and talk . . .

some to stand and sing . . .

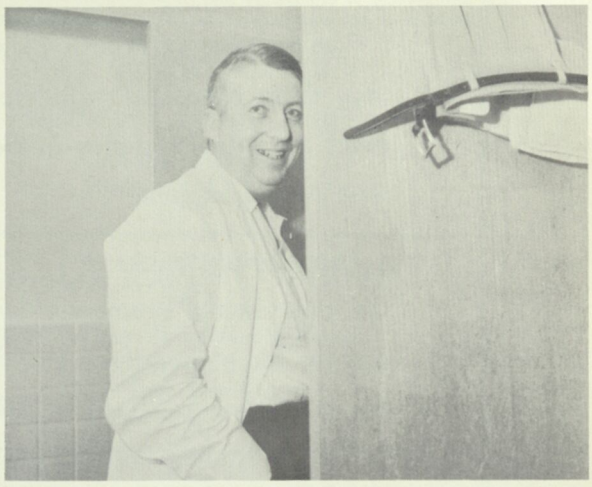
some had the product of vinous fermentation . . .

a small group actually danced!

Here is an example of a case of Erythrothrombomonoblastosis . . .

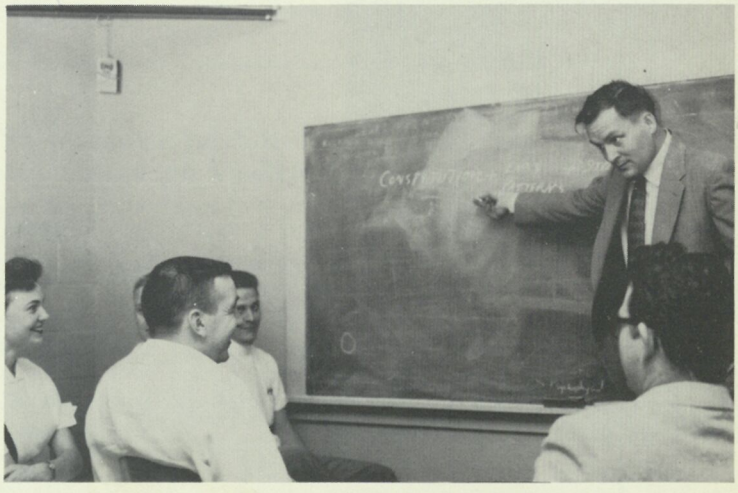


Prostatic hypertrophy . . .

"I think that was the carotid . . ."

New dining room—same coffee . . .

Mrs. Wilmuth and "Dr. LeRoy" . . .



"Obviously sex has been left out of your life . . ."

The success or failure of a yearbook depends on many more persons than those connected with the immediate staff. Certain tasks which mean much are often forgotten in the rush—the 1957 CADUCEUS staff does not wish this to happen.

Our sincere thanks to . . . Betty Wilkinson and Reva Denny for favors too numerous to enumerate . . . Bob Walloch, Paul Chase and Don Thompson for the photography and the many extra hours of work contributing to the excellence of same . . . Dr. Lawrason for his successful efforts to have the entire student body of the School of Medicine participate in the book . . . Jim Long and the Taylor Publishing Company for their assistance and cooperation . . . Jack Diner for advertising posters . . . the faculty and house staff who cooperated in having pictures made . . . the freshman and senior classes of the medical school who had every member photographed . . . to everyone who contributed in any way toward the completion of this issue . . . for without the above assistance a hard task would have been an impossible one.

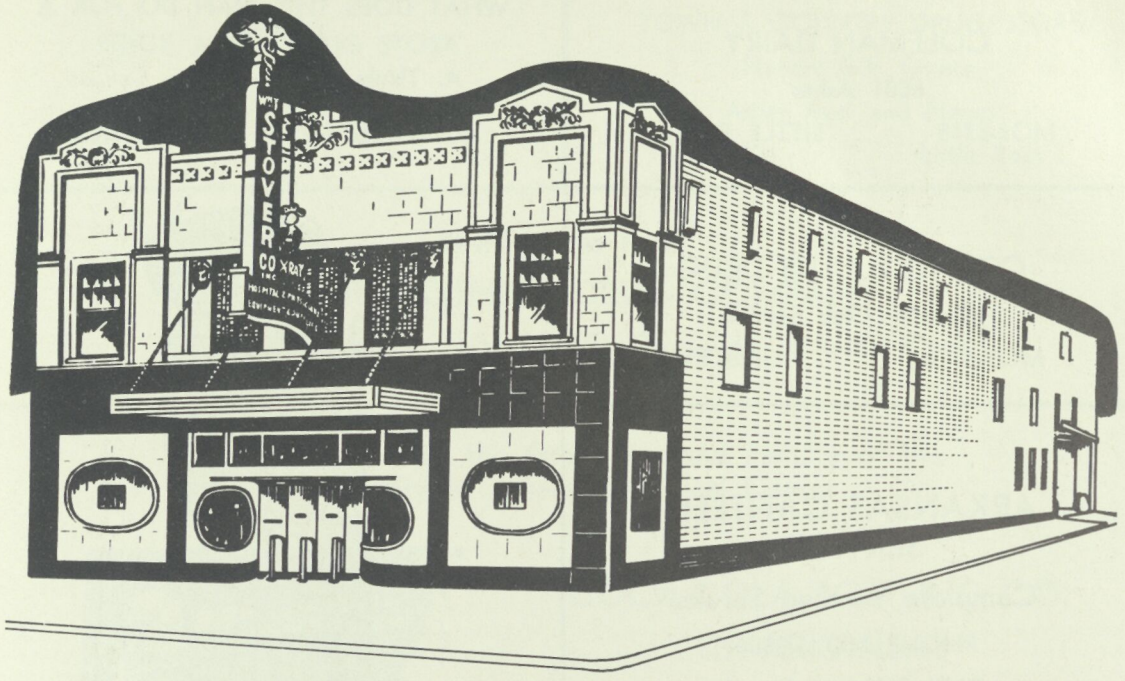
We are glad to have been able to serve you in the past by sponsoring athletic activities, helping to underwrite your yearbook, donating a TV, co-contributing a Hi-Fi for the doctors' lounge, presenting individual gifts annually to graduates, giving a tape recorder to the Freshman class, and U of A insignias for your uniforms. We are also sponsoring a dinner-dance for the 1957 Senior Class.

We most cordially invite your continued patronage in the future.



It is our sincere that you have found the Wm. T. Stover Company helpful in the selection of your requirements. With our modern facilities, we are better equipped to serve you than ever before and we invite your comparison of our services with others.
